

DR. JAMES L GUTMANN

A native of Wisconsin, Dr. James L. Gutmann received his D.D.S. in 1970 from Marquette University School of Dentistry and his Certificate of Advanced Specialty Training in Endodontics from the University of Illinois, College of Dentistry. After serving two years in the military at Ft. Lee Virginia, he spent one year in full-time private endodontic practice in Springfield Massachusetts. He entered academia as an Assistant Professor of Endodontics at the Medical College of Virginia in 1975. In 1976 he was appointed as Chairman of the Department of Endodontics at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, University of Maryland at Baltimore. In 1982, Dr. Gutmann was appointed as a tenured Professor and Chairman of the Department of Endodontics at Baylor College of Dentistry in Dallas Texas, and in 1992, Professor and Director of the Graduate Endodontic Program within the Department of Restorative Sciences at Baylor. Dr. Gutmann is a Diplomate of the American Board of Endodontics and serves as Editor of the Journal of the History of Dentistry. He served as President of the American Association of Endodontists from 2000-2001 and holds honorary memberships in various dental societies. He has presented over 800 lectures, papers, and continuing education courses in the United States and 52 foreign countries on six continents. Additionally, he has authored or co-authored over 300 articles in both dental journals and texts that address scientific, research, educational, and clinical topics. He is the senior author of an Endodontic text entitled "Problem Solving in Endodontics" published in its 5th edition in 2011 and is also the senior co-author of text entitled "Surgical Endodontics," published in 1991 and reprinted in 1994 and 1999, and co-author of the text entitled "The Clinician's Endodontic Handbook" published in its 3rd edition in 2009. In 1998 he was awarded an honorary Ph.D. from the University of Athens, Athens, Greece for his contributions to dentistry and endodontics. In 2011 he received The I. B. Bender Lifetime Educator Award from the American Association of Endodontists and in 2017 he received the Edgar D. Coolidge Award, the highest award of the AAE, in addition to being awarded, a Fellowship in the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh in Dental Surgery.

